Explanation

Emergency and evacuation situations in an education and care service can arise in a number of circumstances and for a variety of reasons. In the event of an emergency evacuation situation, the safety and wellbeing of the Educators, children, families and any visitors to the home are paramount.

Our Service and Educators will consider emergency situations within local contexts and develop suitable plans based around risk assessment outcomes using local and state based authorities and resource agencies.

Goals

Emergency Lock down Plans

Situations such as the threat of a violent person or a police operation in the vicinity, may require the service to go into lock down. This means the service must be secured by the locking of windows and doors and where possible moving all persons from view. Situations where a lockdown is required may take time to be resolved so areas selected should allow for easy access to, food, water, toilets, and space for children to participate in quiet activities.

Emergency Relocation Plans

The Relocation Plan should follow the evacuation plan. Each service should nominate a relocation premises at the end of their Evacuation Plan. During any emergency, relocation should not occur until the relocation site has been deemed safe by emergency services. CCEL will seek advice from emergency services prior to services operating during any period of emergency including floods, storms and other local emergencies.

Critical Incident

A critical incident is any incident or sequence of events which overwhelm the normal coping mechanisms of the service. Critical incidents are abrupt, powerful events that fall outside the range of ordinary human experiences
